PLAGUE

When lord and serf alike death levels
In mud-brick holes or thick walled havens,
Carrion calls the wolves and ravens
Out from the halls of forest devils.
From port to court contagion travels,
Striking down both bold and craven,
Bonnie maids, and monks clean shaven.
Will none escape as life unravels?
Yet fearless, gentles, stand
And fie on those who flee!
How think ye any man may cheat his fate?
The end, as ever, rests in our Lord's hand.
His sovereign will shall surely come to be.
In graceful calm, preserve what may, and wait.

Daedra McBeth a Gryphon,
(now) Daedez of the Dark Horde Moritu.

QUIZ FOR COOKS

In addition to having more time for reading (& with restaurants closed) I have been cooking. I treated myself to a large cast iron skillet and have been preparing skillet meals - leftovers last me for three, four or five meals & the meals are much healthier than what I was eating before.

Anyway, this is a one question quiz: What in-period recipe might I have adapted this recipe from?

Ingredients:

Olive oil

1 lb of medium peeled and deveined shrimp

2T Old Bay Seasoning (I used this instead of mixing up my own spices.)

½ medium yellow onion, chopped

2 bell peppers, chopped (I used a red and a green, for the color.)

½ lb sausage (Precooked & chopped. I made the mistake of using a summer sausage for this - it is what I had on hand. I think chorizo or andouille or an Italian sausage would work better.)

1 zucchini, chopped

2 smashed garlic cloves

Chicken stock

Salt, Pepper & Harissa (the recipe called for red pepper flakes, I used Harissa seasoning instead, because I wanted to.) to taste

1. Heat skillet with a little olive oil over medium high heat.
2. Coat shrimp with Old Bay.
3. Cook shrimp until opaque. Remove from skillet.
4. Cook onions & bell peppers in 2T olive oil, about 5 minutes.
5. Add sausage & zucchini. Cook for another 5 minutes.
6. Add the shrimp & garlic. (A tip about garlic. Garlic contains two chemicals which, after crushing, combine to make allicin, which is very healthy for you. This takes about ten minutes after crushing, and heat prevents the reaction from happening. So crush or chop your garlic ten minutes before using it in cooking.) Cook for another 2 or so minutes.
7. If you need, moisten with chicken stock. The cooking vegetables provide their own moisture, so you won't need much stock. I used ¼ cup & found I needed to boil it down some.
8. Add salt, pepper and harissa to taste.
9. Eat. I served over barley, but a nice crusty roll to sop up the juices would have gone well, too.
